What to expect

Once you have been referred to us either Karen, Margie, Hester or Rachel, our patient coordinators, will contact you to arrange a Referral Consultation which will give you the opportunity to see the practice, meet your referral dentist and discuss your treatment in advance so that you can fully understand the procedure as well as raise any concerns that you may have.

If you are nervous, anxious or dental phobic then you might want to attend with a relative or friend.

At your referral consultation you will be given the necessary information and forms including Guide to Treatment With Intravenous Sedation and/or Guide to Treatment With Inhalation Sedation.

Dental sedation

Whether you are nervous, anxious or dental-phobic we will provide you with a number of sedation options that will put you into a relaxed, dreamlike state during surgery.

Sedation is simply a way to help control your anxiety which will make your treatment more comfortable. During sedation, you will feel pleasantly drowsy and relaxed, but you will still be able to communicate with your dentist.

We offer three types of sedation:

Intravenous sedation - which is administered via a plastic tube in your arm or the back of your hand

Inhalation sedation - which is administered via a special mixture of sedative gas and air

Oral sedation - which is administered via a tablet taken before your appointment

Whichever type of sedation is best for you, rest assured that our fully qualified and experienced team are here to help you. Sedation is effective, predictable and very safe.

Guide to treatment with sedation

Please read this quick guide to treatment with sedation in conjunction with our guide to intravenous sedation and/or guide to inhalation sedation.

We value the trust your dentist places in us to look after you as well as return you to them for further treatment and care. Therefore, in the event that you should wish to transfer to Arnica you will need to discuss this with your dentist first and she/he needs to agree that transferring to us is in your best clinical interest. Without this consent it is only fair to your current dentist that we do not accept you as a patient within 12 months of your last referral appointment with us.
